

GENERIC COMPETENCES:

- Question and argue about the relevance of the judgements that are made and analyse the coherence of the foundations on which these judgements are based with the principles and values of the humanitarian action.
- Tackling difficult challenges in changing and novel situations without compromising their high level of effectiveness of humanitarian response.
- Contribute to team-building, fostering communication, balanced distribution of tasks, internal climate and cohesion.
- Formulate a variety of questions and open-ended alternatives to better understand the context in which humanitarian action is taking place and to generate original and reasoned actions.
- Efficiently pursue objectives and goals set, analysing and responding to difficulties and making appropriate readjustments in humanitarian crises.
- Identify social and cultural diversity as an enriching individual and collective enrichment, which promotes social coexistence without discrimination of gender, age, religion, social, political or ethnic discrimination.
